

Dear Nancy;

I thought you would like this little horsie pulling the cart full of flowers, maybe he will give you a ride if you pet him a little.

You know somthing finnie happend at our house the other day, Grand Ma Mary and I were sitting in the kitchen, and all at once Grand Ma looked at me and said there is something scratching on the back door, and she told me to hurry up and go and see what it was, so I went to the door, and what do you suppose I saw, The cutest white Easter rabbit with pink eyes, and he had two Easter baskets, one big one and one little one, and the rabbit peaked in the door and wiggled and flopped his ears and looked at me, and I wondered what he wanted, then I happend to think maybe he was looking for Nancy and Barbara so I asked him if he was looking for Nancy and Barbara, and he looked so pleased and flopped his ears, Then I had to tell him Nancy and Barbara did not live here any more, they had moved to Detroit Mich. Then the Easter rabbit let his ears flop down and he looked so sad I thought he was going to cry. Then Grand Ma came to the door to see what was going on, and asked what was the matter with the poor Easter rabbit I told her he had a Easter basket for Nancy and Barbara, Grand Ma petted the Easter rabbit and told him not to feel so bad because we could send the Easter baskets to Nancy and Barbara in Detroit Mich. For him. Right away he raised his ears and looked very happy, he gave the baskets to Grand Ma and she said Oscar get a box right away so we can send the baskets to Nancy and Barbara. So I hurryd after a box, Grand Ma said the box was to big, but I told her we would just have to put some more things in it because it was the only box we had. Grand Ma said lets go down town and get Nancy an Easter present and I said O K lets go, in the big store Grand Ma found a big coloring book. I told Grand Ma that book was to big for little Nancy to color. Grand Ma said how you talk, Nancy is a big girl now, she can roller skate, and she ties her own shoe strings, So I just said, buy the book.

Then I saw a nice song book for little girls and I said I am going to buy that for Nancy, but Grand Ma said Nancy cant sing. I told Grand Ma she was mistaken because I knew Nancy went to Sunday School and the kids sing songs in Sunday School, So Grand Ma guessed she was mistaken and she said O K buy Nancy the song book.

Then we went to another store and Grand Ma got some nuts for your Mamma and Grand Pa got some candy for your Daddy and I hope he dont let Mamma and the kids eat it all up for him.

When I put all the things in the box, Grand Ma said gee I wish I was real small so you could put me in the box too. then I bet Nancy and the rest of the family would get a surprise when they ~~open~~ opened the box.

Well you wont have to wait very long for Grand Ma, just two Sundays after Easter Sunday, and after some more Sundays Grand Pa will see you too. Then we will have some fun and maybe you will sing some songs for me. This is the end of the paper so I must stop writing for this time. I hope you, Barbara and your Mommy and Dady have a very fine Easter. Your Grand Pa and Grand Ma wish we could be with you.

Lots of love and big hugs to Nancy, Barby. Mamma & Dady

From Grand Pa Oscar.
